Who Is STEP?

Safety Training and Environmental Protection, LLC (STEP) consultants have provided compliance services to regional and international businesses for over 20 years. Our consultants' expertise spans over 60 years of industrial process, manufacturing, and compliance work. STEP, LLC began its work as a training firm and soon expanded into procedure and program development in an effort to assist our clients with their compliance needs.

Our clients have said the following:

"STEP has been conducting training at our site for many years now. A main reason for the continued relationship is that Sara and her staff are dedicated to providing quality training for our employees. Not only do they challenge employees to learn, their professionalism has gained them respect at all levels in our organization."

"A great benefit of utilizing STEP's services is that their personnel are able to communicate professionally to all levels in an organization and provide and/or illustrate multiple options that lead to a common good."

We work with our clients to foster a true partnership and strive to go above and beyond. Our consultants have worked in industry and understand what it takes to write procedures that clients can use. We develop training that is effective, fun, and interactive and provide audit feedback that assists companies with compliance. Our company stands behind our work and provides the following services, in addition to others:

Safety

Process safety management, program/procedure development, site-specific procedure writing, compliance program development, audits

Training
